Good seed will not produce good fruit, or abundantly, without good culture. Besides, God does not waste His gifts; nor does He deem them unworthy either of appreciation or return. Nature never lends The smallest scruple of her excellence, But like a thrifty goddess she determines Herself the glory of a creditor, Both thanks and use. It is worthy of remembrance that grace, however it may be condemned by the self-righteous, is a felt need of every true believer, --the firmer the belief the more urgent the feeling, --and that while God, in accordance with His unerring wisdom, proportions the gift, it is one for which man should most earnestly and incessantly pray. Christian life is a struggle. St. Paul at one time sought naturally to avoid the conflict. He prayed that the thorn might be removed. But he received answer: My grace is sufficient for thee. Man must fight the fight if he will gain the prize; he must run the race if he will win the crown. This fighting and running are only other names for man s cooperating with Christ and the Spirit of Grace. St. Paul, be it observed, did not complain of the answer, found no fault with the terms, but proceeded to act upon the information in such wise that he was enabled to assert that he did. not war after the flesh, and that he had fought a good fight,...
